Project 2 Proposal:

My goal for this collection of pages was to display my photojournalist-style photography, and also educate visitors about a meaningful group (Art Therapy Connection) and event that it sponsored recently. I chose to focus mainly on the Chalk Festival, while separating photos into different selections—art, activities, and performances. I chose an image of clouds as the backdrop to my main page, as this event was held outdoors, and clouds generally have a light-hearted, happy feeling attached to them. I chose light blues and pinks for other aspects of the pages because since this was an event geared towards children, blues and pinks seem kind of innocent, sweet and fun to me.

Credits:

All photography on this site by Leah Steinbauer, 2009.